Indiana Primary Health Care Association Keynote Speakers

Annual Conference Goes Virtual with Public Health Heavy Weights

INDIANAPOLIS (October 5, 2020)—Indiana Primary Health Care Association (IPHCA) announces today the list of keynote speakers for their upcoming Annual Conference. This year, the conference will be a virtual experience running Oct. 12 – 16, 2020, from 1-3 pm Eastern.

“Our conference is normally held during the second quarter of the year. Due to all the issues surrounding COVID-19, we pushed it back to October,” said CEO Ben Harvey. “We are very excited about all the speakers and breakout sessions we’re planning. Plus, the technology we’re using is going to make this a great experience for all of our attendees.”

Beginning on Monday, Oct. 12, 2020, the keynote speakers will be Dr. Virginia Caine, Director Marion County Health Department, Health Disparities and COVID; Eric Holcomb, Governor of Indiana, State of the State during COVID; Steve Long, President & CEO Hancock Health, The Future of Healthcare in a COVID World; Troy Jester, President Vantage Point Consulting, Health Centers Response to COVID; and Reverend James King, Chair-Elect Indiana Health Centers, Why We Matter!.
